

Smith System EMEA Ltd launch

K Training is proud to announce that it has been acquired by Smith System Inc.

Smith System EMEA Ltd, a Wembley based company, has been formed to provide advanced driver training for the Road Haulage and Passenger Transport industries with U.K.-based instructors throughout Europe, the Middle East and Africa.

Henry and the team at K Training will continue to provide existing ADR, DGSA and CPC courses as well as consultancy under the trading name of K Training.

Smith System was formed in 1952 and its proven training methodology is now taught in over 83 countries to the benefit of both drivers and employers. This unique program combines classroom with on-road training to acquaint the driver with Smith System's 5-Keys®. The 5-Keys® provide benefits that include a reduction in collisions, better fuel economy, lowered maintenance costs, a less stressful driving environment and an enhanced company image.

Unlike many other training courses, the Smith System allows drivers to experience the training in the on-road environment they experience daily. The drivers receive feedback from their instructor as well as from their fellow classmates. In the end, they leave the course with a solid assessment of their current driving habits as well as a set of skills they can utilise both on and off the job to make using the 5-Keys® their normal habit.

Smith System is proud to have served large and small companies such as BP, Shell, Chevron and ExxonMobil, who use the Smith System throughout the world as well as leading companies in the U.K. such as Hoyer, The First Group and National Express.

The small investment in this "one day" advanced driver training programme is quickly realised.
